NEARLY 100 JAPANESE SHIPS ROT ON OCEAN FLOOR AS RESULT OF FEARLESS OPERATIONS OF AMERICAN SUBMARINES

"Submarines Doing Grand Job," Declares Secretary of Navy
Knox—Patrol Forces of British Eighth Army Resume Advance Westward Through Libya—Penetrate To Vicinity of El Agheila

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—With nearly 100 Japanese ships and their cargoes rotting on the ocean floors as a result of the fearless operations and accurate shooting of American submarines, Secretary of the Navy Knox singled out the work of the Yankee undersea craft for special commendation.

"The submarines are doing a grand job," the head of the Navy declared, as the American subs continued to take a heavy toll of Japanese shipping in slashing attacks across the enemy's Pacific supply lines, even approaching the shores of Japan itself.

As Secretary Knox sounded his high praise for the submarine commanders and their crews, official Navy communications to date disclosed that a total of 141 Jap ships have been sunk or damaged by U. S. subs since last December 7th.

This figure includes 93 ships of all types sunk, 21 probably sunk, and 27 damaged.

Knox made his comment about the work of American submarines at a press conference following disclosure in Honolulu that one submarine alone accounted for more than 70,000 tons of enemy shipping, most of it off the coast of Japan.

CAIRO, Dec. 1.—Patrol forces of the British Eighth Army have resumed their advance westward through Libya and penetrated to the vicinity of El Agheila where it is believed remnants of the Axis desert army may attempt to make a stand, it was officially announced today.

A communique from headquarters of Gen. Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander, British Middle East commander, said that patrols of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's army were active yesterday in the neighborhood of El Agheila, on the coast of the Gulf of Sidra, 70 miles west of British-held Agadabia.

The patrols apparently sought to test the Axis strength in the Agheila area where General Field Marshal Erwin Rommel is believed to be.

Small Fire Occurs at The Oldham Mill, Newportville

NEWPORTVILLE, Dec. 1.—When an explosion occurred in the oil burner in the basement of the Oldham Towel Mill, Newportville-Emille Road, yesterday afternoon at five o'clock, the only damage caused was the burning of some wooden cases in the basement, according to company officials.

It is stated that oil had accumulated in the heater and exploded when ignited by the automatic spark, due to the excess quantity. The employees were just preparing to leave.

A considerable amount of smoke emanated from the basement. The oil burner was undamaged.

Members of Newportville Fire Company and Bristol Consolidated Fire Company, also Bristol volunteer firemen, responded to the alarm.

SUM OF $245,000 IS PAID OUT BY TWO CHRISTMAS CLUBS OF BRISTOL; MEN IN ARMED FORCES HELD MANY OF ACCOUNTS

The huge sum of $245,001.25 is being paid out by Bristol's two Christmas Savings Clubs—operated by The Farmers National Bank of Bucks County and The Bristol Trust Company.

Four thousand, three hundred and thirty-seven checks have been mailed to members of the clubs who during the past year used this method to save money for the holiday season.

In many instances young men in the armed forces of the United States opened the accounts, and thus have money to augment their pay from various branches of the service.

The Christmas Club of Farmers National Bank is the larger one locally this year, the total amount included in the 2337 checks from that banking institution being $138,001.25.

The majority of these were mailed to residents of Bristol and nearby communities, some going to outlying sections of Pennsylvania or to nearby states.

This sum is an increase over the Farmers Bank club of last year, the amount paid out at that time totalling $99,000. One individual member in this club is to receive a check for $1250. Many others, who paid $5 and $10 weekly will receive sizeable checks. The range of payments weekly for cards is 25 cents to $10.

Bristol Trust Company's total payments to Christmas Club members is $107,000, made payable to 2,000 persons. This is a decrease from last year's club at this institution, when the total was $120,000.

The greatest distance that a check from this club is to be mailed is to Massachusetts, the majority of the recipients being local residents. To one individual checks totalling $1500 were mailed; and to another checks for $1,000.

It is presumed that a large part of this money will be spent locally, with Bristol merchants receiving much of it in exchange for goods of various types, including holiday gifts. Much Christmas shopping will be done in Bristol it is presumed, with individuals aiding in the saving of gasoline and tires.

Some will use the funds for taxes, winter fuel, etc., and many will place a portion in savings accounts for future use.

New clubs at the two banking institutions have already opened, with first payments due yesterday.

WOUND MORTALITY REDUCED

When nations go to war, there must be casualties. Men are killed and wounded, and some of the wounded die of their wounds. When a man is killed, nothing can be done about it, but the success of efforts to save the lives of wounded men is of the utmost importance.

It is gratifying to learn that the mortality rate for American troops wounded in the Solomon Islands fighting is being held to less than 1 per cent through use of modern medical discoveries and hospital planes.

Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntyre, surgeon general of the Navy, is responsible for the figures, which he calls astonishing but true. The 1 per cent of wounded men in the Solomons who die after treatment compares with the mortality rate of more than 7 per cent for American soldiers wounded in the field in the last war.

Admiral McIntyre gives great credit to field application of sulfa drugs and injection of drug plasma for the saving of so large a percentage of wounded men. Hospital planes then fly them to advance hospitals where additional treatment is given them.

The admiral discloses that the sulfa drugs and blood plasma have been particularly effective in the treatment of abdominal wounds. In the last war such wounds, with their resultant infections, caused the greatest loss of life, with fatalities running as high as 60 to 80 per cent.

With modern technique the mortality rate for abdominal wounds has been reduced to less than 5 per cent. And Admiral McIntyre predicts that the rate will be decreased still further as medical officers learn more about these cases.

Apparently American medical technique gives Uncle Sam's forces a marked advantage over the Japanese, who are not credited with extensive use of sulfa drugs.

But the emphasis is on blood plasma. Sulfa drugs can be manufactured, but blood plasma comes only through the giving of human blood.

SUPPLY IMPROVEMENT

With American and British in battle lines drawing closer around the few remaining Axis positions in North Africa in a final phase that will send Hitler's troops hurtling back to Europe or crush them, it is encouraging to note that the Allies have the advantage of better lines of supply. Spearheads into Tunisia and Libya are solidly supported by communications to the rear.

It is reported that Axis submarines attacking Allied lines of supply in the Western Mediterranean and the Atlantic Ocean around Gibraltar are slackening their efforts following some damaging blows dealt them by the Allies. The U-boat menace is not only unable to prevent the Allies carrying out the North African campaign, but is itself in danger of being eliminated. Ships of supply continue to get to Allied forces while few Axis ships were able to get through to Tunisia.

With a North African railroad available—from the Atlantic port of Casablanca a standard gauge system extends through Morocco and Algeria into the ports of Tunisia—and the Mediterranean being blasted open, improved transportation will add the equivalent of more than 2,000,000 tons of merchant shipping to the Allies.

The Great Game of Politics

want. Mr. Nelson now possesses the power but, obviously, that power ought not to be used except to improve the situation. In brief, Mr. Nelson ought to recall the power he delegated to the army when he first took office only if it is clear that the army is doing a poor job and he is sure he can do it better.

THAT was the line laid down for Mr. Baruch in the last war by President Wilson, and Mr. Baruch was able to get results without taking things out of the army's hands. Apparently, Mr. Nelson thinks he can get better results if he puts all in the hands of his able aide, Mr. Wilson. And, having been asked to do the job, one can easily understand Mr. Wilson's feeling that he should exercise complete control. But, compromise or no compromise, what this means is a change in the system with no proof that better results will ensue. For one thing, a certain amount of retarding readjustment will follow. For another, sore spots and hard feeling are inevitable. For a third, it certainly will leave the army unconvinced. From its standpoint there is much to justify the view that the army, linking up with American industry, has done a really great job. Most people will agree to this; agree also that today things are operating smoothly under army-industry cooperation. If the job is not being perfectly done, still there is nothing in the record of the WPB to create confidence that it could do better.

ON the contrary, army spokesmen say—and with some truth—that the WPB record has been one of vacillation, weakness and instability. There are stronger men in it now than before, but it still checks short in various directions and easily might make a mess if it undertakes to uproot the army production machine. To the charge that it is not "scheduling" competently, the army replies that in the African expedition it scheduled pretty successfully some 700,000 separate items and asks if there is anything in the WPB records to show it could have done as well. Army spokesmen further say that so far as production is concerned, it would have shown even better results if the WPB had had a competent priority system and thus prevented shortages of raw materials such as steel, copper and rubber. As for the argument of Mr. Wilson's qualifications and industrial experience, the army retorts with "Well, we have Knudsen." Altogether, the army makes out a pretty good case for continuation of the existing setup and Mr. Nelson would be in a stronger position if there had been more stability and less shifting within his agency.

TAKING all these things into consideration, it is a little hard to see the reasons for a change. No charge is made that the army has bogged down, and there seems sense in the contention that the best thing would be if Mr. Nelson could be satisfied with publicly establishing his right to step in and take over—with the army acknowledging him as boss—but not really to do so unless or until the army fails to measure up. There is a disposition to feel that the hard fight Mr. Nelson has made on this issue is due to the way in which the strong men whom he recently has brought in have been "needling" him. On one phase of the argument the army is at a disadvantage. Mr. Nelson and Mr. Wilson can permit to go out strong hints that if they do not have their way they will resign. This may be bluff or it may not be, but the army can't match it. Nobody can resign from the army—or even talk about it. No matter how much it loses in the compromise, the army has to carry on and be cheerful about it.

Nowack-McCarthy Nuptials
Are Followed By A Dinner

CROYDON, Dec. 1.—A beautiful wedding took place in St. Thomas Aquinas R. C. Church on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, when Miss Margaret G. McCarthy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McCarthy, Cedar avenue, became the bride of Mr. Edward W. Nowack, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nowack, Laings Gardens, West Bristol. At the nuptial mass the Rev. John Caffney officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white bridal satin, entrain, with a sweetheart neckline, and long sleeves pointed over the hands. Her full length veil of illusion was held in place by a sweetheart halo of lace. White satin slippers and an arm bouquet of white chrysanthemums completed her costume.

The matron of honor, Mrs. John J. McCarthy, sister-in-law of the bride, wore a floor-length gown of cerise taffeta, halo of velvet flowers and veil of the same tone. She wore silver slippers and carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

Mr. Walter J. Nowack, brother of the groom, served as best man.

Miss Winifred V. Tracy, Bristol, presided at the organ, and Miss Theresa Fischer, Philadelphia, was the soloist during the mass.

Dinner was served at noon to the bridal party at the Hotel Stacy-Trent, Trenton, N. J., after which the newlyweds left for a honeymoon in Pittsburgh. The bride traveled in an aquamarine dress with black accessories and corsage of white "mums." Mr. and Mrs. Nowack will be at home after December 15th at their newly-furnished apartment, 5410 Bartram Drive, Philadelphia.

The bride, a registered nurse, formerly practiced at the Wagner private hospital, Bristol. The groom is a supervisor of the Kellett Autogiro Company, Philadelphia.

ON THE SCREENS

GRAND THEATRE

Clark Gable and Lana Turner co-star again in "Somewhere I'll Find You," drama of war correspondents in the Far East, at the Grand Theatre. Their first co-starring film was "Honky Tonk."

This is a story as timely as today's dispatches from the front and it is handled superbly by stars, supporting cast and direction by Wesley Ruggles. Gable and Robert Sterling, as brothers, and newspapermen, are both in love with Miss Turner, also a correspondent on duty in Indo-China. The rivalry is rudely interrupted by the bombing of Pearl Harbor, which throws them into the maelstrom as something more than neutral observers.

BRISTOL THEATRE

The most famous character in American detective fiction, Ellery Queen is currently to be seen at the Bristol Theatre in the latest of his filmed exploits, "A Desperate Chance for Ellery Queen." William Gargan plays the role, with Margaret Lindsay.

"Sunset On the Desert," a western title which spells box office "oomph," is scheduled to open today at the Bristol Theatre for a two day run.

(By the Rev. James R. Galley)
Pastor, Bristol Presbyterian Church

O Lord, our God, search our hearts and make them clean. Renew continually a right spirit within us. Make us willing to do thy will. Teach us how to pray and how to work. Help us to go where thou dost send us, whether it be at home or on foreign fields, whether it be in ease or in hardship. Give us courage to speak for thee, and loving patience in trying to help others, that through our efforts thy Kingdom might be advanced. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

COMMUNICATION

Bristol, Pa., Nov. 30, 1942
Editor, Courier:

I read in the Courier yesterday about the necessity for women to enter industry and help win the war. I felt the appeal very strongly and took account of my own situation. I feel the urge to help and love for my country prods me to solve my own problem so that I can take my place as a true American and aid in defending those things which all Americans hold dear.

Of course I can dismiss this matter by saying that "I don't have to work. My husband makes enough to keep me." But when I do look upon this matter from this point of view I feel that I am permitting selfishness to guide me in making a decision.

In talking this matter over with a neighbor, I found that she also was prompted by a desire to do her bit, but she has one little girl. "To get a maid to care for the little girl while I am at work is impossible," she says. And I agree with her. Women are not available for such positions now. She has no one to leave her child with, and so she has decided to remain at home and look after her family.

I talked the subject over with some of my club friends. They all appeared to believe that the situation is critical but do not take it as being a personal matter. They just think that some other women will eventually take the jobs and that production will be sufficient to meet the needs of the boys fighting for the preservation of liberty.

I am still undecided as to what to do, but I know that such indecision will not win the war.

A READER.

NOW CAR OWNERS CAN BUY
THE NEW
Firestone
WAR TIRE

YES—It's true! If your present tires cannot be recapped, you are eligible to apply for a certificate to buy the new Firestone War Tire no matter whether you hold an "A", "B" or "C" gasoline ration book.

The new Firestone War Tire is now on sale at all Firestone Dealers and Firestone Stores. Its construction has been tested and proved by more than two years of service. Naturally, you'd expect Firestone to build the best War Tire that can be built, because Firestone has always been a pioneer in developing new processes and creating new products made from rubber. And with its unequalled background of experience in building tires that successfully withstand the most gruelling tests of durability and safety, it is not surprising that Firestone is building a War Tire with such exclusive features as:

Safty-Lock, Gum-Dipped Cord Body — same construction that has made Firestone Tires so strong, so safe, so durable on the road as well as on the Speedway. The body of the new Firestone War Tire is built to outwear several treads and can be recapped for thousands of miles of extra service.

Firestone Non-Skid Tread — famous for performance and protection against skidding.

Vitamic Rubber — made by adding a new wear-resisting rubber vitamin, called "Vitalin."

If your present tires can be recapped — be sure to have them recapped by the Firestone Factory Controlled Method. Firestone has the largest system of recapping shops in America, strategically located to give you better service. This nation-wide system is strictly supervised and uniform in workmanship. For longer mileage, bring your tires to us for recapping.

COME IN AND SEE IT! The new Firestone War Tire is now ready for the car owners of America. Come in and see it. We will be glad to help you make out an application for a tire rationing certificate.

PROTECT YOUR TIRE MILEAGE with Firestone
LIFE PROTECTORS

For longer mileage and greater safety, equip every tire with a Firestone Life Protector. This amazing double-chambered tube keeps your tire inflated in event of a puncture or a blowout, so that you can stop safely without cutting or slashing the precious tire. Any certificate for a new tube entitles you to buy a Life Protector.
